VENTURE CONCEPT | FINDIT Solutions

Investor-ready concept workbook • Working business plan and illustrative pricing assumptions — validate with customer research before launch.

Section	Concept	How it works	Value created	Business opportunity
Mission	A location-discovery and availability platform for real-estate professionals and opportunity seekers.	Users search a centralized app for properties, communities, spaces, service locations, and investment opportunities that match their criteria.	Cuts down repetitive calls, site visits, scattered spreadsheets, and delays in finding current opportunities.	Recurring membership revenue plus optional premium tools and verified listing services.
Core promise	Find the right opportunity without driving from property to property.	Search by location, asset/property type, availability, price/rent range, features, contact details, and date last verified.	Information can be saved, shared with clients or teams, and broadcast remotely from anywhere.	A practical, daily-use tool can encourage renewals when data is accurate and useful.
Product model	Mobile-first app + web dashboard.	Map and list views, saved searches, alerts, shareable listings, team workspaces, owner/property manager listing portal, and verification timestamps.	A single place to research, compare, and distribute options.	Launch in one metro area, prove data quality and willingness to pay, then expand.
Important guardrail	Trust is the product.	Show source, last-updated date, availability status, and whether information is confirmed, estimated, or user-submitted.	Reduces stale information and protects member confidence.	Build a verification workflow, listing policies, privacy safeguards, and clear disclaimers.

Investment thesis	Find It can become a recurring-revenue, workflow-focused platform if it solves a frequent and costly search problem better than disconnected websites, phone calls, spreadsheets, and in-person visits.
